Supervisors continue deadlock on GEC repayment

Hancock Supervisors President A. A. Kellar was unable to solicit any new ideas on payment of the $675,000 Governor's Emergency Council loan at a meeting of the board Wednesday.

Last week the board failed in two sessions to devise a method of repayment which was to have been submitted to Francis Geoghegan, director of the office of Budget and Accounting June 6. When a motion calling for dedication of a two mill levy to repay the money failed last Tuesday, board members agreed to simply submit the minutes of the meeting to Geoghegan.

In correspondence received during the last month the board was ordered to return to the state $165,000 in unapproved GEC monies and $180,000 allocated to the county school board. The school board told supervisors last Tuesday they would not return the money allocated to them.

"This board is putting the whole county in jeopardy," said Kellar Wednesday. "This money has got to be repaid and we have to come up with a plan today or they will cut off our homestead exemption."

None of the board members responded to Kellar's request for a new plan, however. Beat one supervisor Jerry Janner continued to demand a complete breakdown of where the money had been spent.

"State auditor Leslie Ross and I did a complete audit of the funds," Chancery

Those who like it, still cat around in Long Beach

By BOB INNES

There's a good old-fashioned cat house in Long Beach.

It's been in existence for about one year and still not many people know about it. The ones that do like to be called feline fanciers.

Pussy's Galore is a modern-day cattery owned and operated by Mrs. Sandra Ruby.

The name Pussy's Galore comes from the James Bond movie "Goldfinger." Mrs. Ruby says that names for her cats come from the 007 trademark and popular song titles.

"I've been showing for almost a year," she explained and in the coming months Mrs. Ruby expects to enlarge her cattery with two males coming from Oregon and California to make their home at Pussy's Galore.

It's most important that people know that Pussy's Galore is strictly CFA, (Cat Fanciers Association Inc.) Mrs. Ruby explained. Because she is CFA she comes in contact with some of the most unusual cats the fancier or average pet lover will ever see.

I correspond with many different catteries throughout the United States and Canada and handle only CFA registered cats," Mrs. Ruby, who considers herself an innovative fancier

Perplexing moment

International Demolition & Salvage Company president Bruce Pursell, right, and company manager Ernest Mitchell pause briefly Monday to evaluate the situation. International entertained approximately 70 persons Monday on the tour boat Pan American out of Biloxi in anticipation of the sinking of its first salvage vessel, the Benjamin Waterhouse, off the tip of Horn Island. The vessel's sinking was delayed until Tuesday when a tug pulling the Waterhouse was unable to rendezvous with the Pan American due to shaft trouble.

Waterhouse takes deep six after missing Monday program

After a day's reprieve, the liberty ship U.S.S. Benjamin Waterhouse finally succumbed to the pearly depths Tuesday, but not nearly with the degree of fanfare that had been planned for her demise by the vessel's owners, International Demolition & Salvage Company.

The vessel, which surprised everyone Monday by not keeping its scheduled appointment with a crowd of approximately 70 persons, including Hancock County dignitaries, International brass, and members of the press that had come to cheer its last mission, remained true to the end Tuesday as it fought to remain afloat even after workers burned two large holes in the vessel's hull to expedite sinking.

The sinking, under the auspices of the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission and the Mississippi Gulf Fishing Banks, Inc. is the first of five designed to create an artificial fishing reef in the Gulf Coast waters.

The Waterhouse was sunk in approximately 44 foot deep water five miles south of Horn Island. International officials said there would be approximately 29 feet of clearance over the vessel.

A second vessel, currently undergoing salvage operations by International at Port Blenville Industrial Park in Hancock County, will be sunk in approximately two months, according to International general director Ernest Mitchell. Mitchell said the second vessel would be sunk about 5-7 miles from the Waterhouse in slightly deeper water. Clearance over the second vessel would be about 50 feet.

International officials said the Waterhouse sinking was accomplished Tuesday at 3:55 p.m. after workers cut holes in the vessel and pumped her hull with water.

The vessel perplexed everyone Monday, including International officials, when she was not on location for the scheduled sinking planned for a contingent of Gulf Coast invitees.

Hours after the planned 10 a.m. sinking, it was learned the tug Elaine J. commissioned to bring the ship to its designated sinking coordinates, had developed shaft trouble.

Bay council awaits response on GEC loan repayment plan

Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver said Wednesday that the city had received no response as yet to its proposal for repayment of the Governor's Emergency Council loan money sent to the state office of Budget and Accounting last week.

At a special council session last Thursday to discuss the Camille loan money the members voted to submit a preferred repayment plan calling for repayment of the loan at a rate of $10,000 per year for 13 years and an alternate plan to pay the loan off in four years by raising city millage to Francis Geoghegan, department director.

"I prefer the 13 year payment," said Carver, "because we could make the payments without raising city taxes. People greatly resent an increase in taxes, and I feel that it is the least painful method of repaying the money."

The 13 year repayment plan received a unanimous vote from the council. Commissioner Lucien Kidd said that even though the longer payment plan would cost the city an additional $27,813 in interest on the $87,964 remaining principal, that rising city assessments would compensate for the added expenditure. The city has already repaid $283,573 of the original $358,936 loan.

Kidd suggested that a second plan for repaying the loan in four years be submitted to Geoghegan as an alternate. The second plan calls for an increase of 2 mills for the years followed by a levy of only 1.52 mills in the fourth year of repayment. The alternate plan will only be implemented if the director rejects the 13 year plan, the council said.

In order to make the promised $10,000 yearly payment without raising city taxes, Mayor Carver submitted a list of budget cuts to the council. No action was taken on the suggestions, which caused some dissension among the council members.

Commissioners Kidd and Clarence Ladner accused the mayor of suggesting cuts in their departments but none in his own. Among the mayor's suggestions to which the two commissioners objected were a reduction in the office personnel in the collection departments and a reduction in the number of field supervisors in the utilities department.

The mayor itemized the following cuts and estimated yearly savings: eliminate auto allowance and require submission of detailed travel allowances, $1,200; eliminate payment of retainer fee to Burk and Associates, $2,400; withdrawal from monthly social function of Mississippi Coast Municipal Officers' Association, $900; limit city court sessions from weekly to semi-monthly with a salary of $50 each session for city judge, $900; eliminate salary paid for clerical assistance to city judge and transfer duty to personnel at city hall, $600; reduce salary of city bookkeeper, $1,800; reduce salary of city attorney, $600; and reduction of yearly revision of city's tax rolls by using computers, $700.

Other suggestions made by the mayor were logging of long distance telephone calls, energy conservation in the use of electric power and gasoline consumption, a system of accounting for the utilities department which would include separate operating results for the water, gas and sewer systems and an inclusive method of personal tax collections which would eliminate the loss of tax dollars.

Optimist Club to organize in LB

By BOB INNES

Long Beach Bureau If everything goes well by August 1 Long Beach should have an Optimist Club.

Gerald L. Young, president of the Gulfport Club and Harvey Thornton said an organizational meeting Tuesday night failed "mainly because not enough people knew about it," but that the club hoped to reach more new members. Thornton and Young, both presently members of the Gulfport Club, said they were trying to bring the idea to Long Beach.

According to Young it takes 35 members before the St.

Louis, Miss. home-based office will issue a charter. Dues are $24 per year.

The 67-year-old organization has over 3,000 clubs in the U.S., Canada, and Mexico and strives for the "development of youth."

Young said that the club is open to males only from the ages of 21 up. However, Young said that since there are quite a lot of young people between the ages of 18-21 involved in the community they will be considered for membership, if approved by the home office.

The next organizational meeting is scheduled for Aug. 1. Anyone interested, Young said, should contact him at Merchants Bank, in Long Beach.

Young said that only about 2-3 hours work each month will be required.

Jaycees set meeting

The Bay St. Louis Jaycees will hold their next regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 12 at the Jaycee Hall.

Anyone interested in joining the Jaycees is invited to attend.

Sunshine ice cream parlor becomes Koch family enterprise

Today it is often hard to find a family that spends its leisure time together, but it is even more unusual to find a family like the Raymond Koch family of Bay St. Louis who are planning to operate a business together.

The Koch family enterprise is The Sunshine Parlor, an ice cream parlor which opened Sunday on South Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis. The parlor has been in the planning stages since February.

"We originally thought of the ice cream parlor as a summer project for the children," said Mrs. Koch. "We felt it would be a good way to keep the family together, and give the children summer employment."

It will be the five Koch children who will manage The Sunshine Parlor. Raymond Koch, an aerospace manager for Martin-Marietta at Michoud, said that the business would be completely operated by the two oldest girls with profits going toward the college education of each.

Each one of the children will have specific duties in the business. Gerri Koch, a recent graduate of Bay Senior High will handle all of the bookkeeping and ordering this summer. She is also responsible for the design of the uniforms that will be worn by the girls in the parlor.

When Gerri leaves in the fall to attend Loyola University in New Orleans to study medical technology, her sister Kathie, 16, a student of Bay Senior High, will take over the operation. Kathie is also the artist for the business, taking care of the design of all of the signs, ads and lettering for the new shop.

Mark, 15, a student at St. Stanislaus, Laurie, 13, a student at Our Lady's Academy and Kris, 11, a student at St. Clare's School, will work in the ice cream parlor this summer waiting on customers and helping in the day to day operation.

"We are all very excited about it," said Gerri. "I know that it will be a lot of work, but so far it has been a lot of fun too."

Many Bay St. Louis residents will be reminded about the "good old days" when they come to visit the Sunshine Parlor. Originally the building was an ice cream parlor called simply Sunshine's owned by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gleim of Waveland.

"The reason the children wanted to call the parlor The Sunshine Parlor was because the original Sunshine's was here for so long and the people here still remember it," said Mrs. Koch. "That will be part of the fun, for people to come back here and reminisce about when they used to come here as children."

The decor of the ice cream parlor is reminiscent of that other time too. A player piano that really works sits against one of the walls, and two of the tables were created by the Kochs out of old fashioned sewing machine stands.

For the children of the 1970's, however, the parlor offers 32 to 40 flavors of ice cream and five very young faces behind the counter.

Open for business

Kris and Laurie Koch prepare for the onslaught of customers as the doors of the Sunshine Parlor open Sunday. The five Koch children, Gerri, Kathie, Mark, Laurie and Kris will run the ice cream parlor and use the profits toward their college educations.

Final fitting

Gerri Koch, manager of The Sunshine Parlor and designer of the uniforms the girls will wear, pins the hem for her sister, Kathie Koch is responsible for all the art work and advertising and will take over management when her older sister Gerri leaves for school at the end of the summer.

First customer

Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver is the first to sample the wares of the Sunshine parlor after ribbon cutting ceremonies Sunday. Kris Koch hands him the first cone.

Dawn Ladner wins Miss Long Beach title

The Long Beach Bureau Judges named Dawn Ladner Miss Long Beach Saturday night from a field of eight contestants.

The 18-year-old also won the talent award with her original interpretation of "Tie A Yellow Ribbon Round the Old Oak Tree" on the saxophone. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Ladner of Long Beach and the oldest of nine children.

Named as first alternate was Diane Randall. Second Alternate is Sherce Carlisle and Joni Viger was named third alternate.

Miss Ladner will represent Long Beach in the Miss Mississippi pageant in Vicksburg in July. She will also perform her winning musical interpretation for the talent part of the contest.

A 1975 graduate of Long Beach High, Miss Ladner has won many superior medals for her saxophone playing and was a member of the high school marching, concert and stage bands. She was also a member of the high school newspaper staff.

Miss Ladner plans on attending the University of Mississippi in the fall, majoring in journalism.

Police acquire radar gun

Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn cautioned drivers to observe speed limits within the city more closely in the future because of the recent acquisition by the department of a radar speed detector.

Dorn said the gun could detect speeders from either side of the street, even if the violator is travelling in the opposite direction of the police car.

CORNELIUS J. LADNER TO MY FRIENDS AND VOTERS OF BEAT 5, HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI:

I am a candidate for the office of Beat 5 Supervisor, Hancock County, Mississippi. I made the decision to make the race for the office of Beat 5 after discussing the matter with my Friends and Voters of Beat 5 and last but not least with my family, especially my wife. With their encouragement and a lot of soul searching, I am here in this race asking you to help me be your Beat 5 Supervisor.

I am a graduate of Dedeaux School, 1935, St. Stanislaus College, 1939, Pearl River Junior College, 1941. I taught school at Aaron Academy and was drafted in the United States Army from my teaching job. I served in the Southwest Pacific and was discharged in 1943. I entered the University of Mississippi School of Law in 1944 and in my last Semester of Law School, I ran for the office of State Senator and was elected August 5, 1947. I served in the Office of State Senator from 1948 to 1952, representing Hancock, Lamar and Pearl River Counties. I graduated from the University of Mississippi School of Law in August, 1948 and have since that time practiced law here in Bay St. Louis. I served from 1961 to 1965 on the Board of Trustees of Hancock General Hospital with one year as its President.

I come to you as a dedicated candidate for the Office of Beat 5 Supervisor wanting to serve you, a dependable individual whose word you can count on, and qualified by education, business practices and experience for the Office, since the Office of Board of Supervisor is a quasi-judicial and quasi-legislative body, which means it enacts laws and hands down decisions and orders.

As your Beat 5 Supervisor, I will work for the following:

1. I pledge that all the Beat 5 County Roads will be maintained and the ditches kept open so the water will drain properly.
  2. I pledge that the People of Beat 5 will have a greater voice in its supervision and operations.
  3. I pledge to you that your property taxes will not be increased for the next 4 years. You will get a dollar value for every tax dollar (YOUR MONEY) spent.
  4. I pledge to re-establish the office of County Attorney and make it an elective office so you will have the right to vote for this Office.
  5. I pledge that Hancock County will have one of the Assistant District Attorneys who will live, vote and maintain his Office here in Hancock County, since the people of Hancock County help to pay his salary.
  6. I pledge to work for Hancock County to have a Junior College for the benefit of our young girls and boys.
  7. I pledge to support a program whereby Hancock County, the City of Bay St. Louis and the Town of Waveland will be counted as One Unit for the benefit of State Government and our Federal Government when it comes to receiving State or Federal Funds. As a Unit we would be greater in strength when it comes to population, assessed valuation and area in the distribution of those funds for the benefit of our people.
  8. I pledge to work for a program with that part of the City of Bay St. Louis that lies in Beat 5 to help construct, improve and maintain the streets and especially the ditches so that they will drain off the water.
- I have a good program for Beat 5 and I need your help to implement this program. I plan to make a house to house campaign and see each Voter. So, before you make up your mind, would you please let me have the opportunity to talk and discuss with you this race, then make your decision. ## Youth project delayed

The Summer Youth Project of Pearl River Valley Opportunity, Inc. designed to provide summer jobs for disadvantaged youths has been held up due to President Gerald Ford's May 29 veto of a $5 billion public works bill.

The President's veto of the bill which allocated $485 million to the Summer Youth Project was sustained by the House of Representatives June 4.

Ford said on vetoing the bill that it was too inflationary for the present readjusted economy. He added that he hoped Congress would pass his own public works legislation for far less than the $5 billion figure.

A new public works bill submitted by the House of Representatives June 5 is now pending action by the Senate. The new bill includes a $485 million allocation for the Summer Youth Project.

The director of PRVO, Helmon Johnson, said that the Presidential veto does not mean that the summer project is cancelled. He said he was hopeful that the work could begin June 16.

MEC urges removal of gas sales tax

The Mississippi Economic Council recommended to the state legislature last week that the sales tax on all motor fuels be removed. The Council added that revenues for highways, roads or streets, for which the tax is currently used, could be raised by the excise tax, other taxes on highway users and property tax in the case of local governments.

The council said President Gerald Ford's increased tariff on imported crude oil, plus the suggestion that OPEC countries would increase the price of oil as much as 30 percent, and have a downward effect on the price of petroleum products in Mississippi.

"Added to these costs and the increased prices that Mississippians pay per gallon of gasoline is an additional double taxation that takes more from the pocketbooks of Mississippians than from any other state in the union," said the MEC spokesman.

On the average priced gallon of gasoline purchased, Mississippians pay 9 cents excise tax and 2½ cents sales tax. The sales tax is computed on the cost of the product plus the total amount of the excise taxes, virtually a tax on a tax, the council said.

"When the federal excise tax of 4 cents is added to the state excise and sales taxes, Mississippians are charged a total of 15½ cents tax per gallon of gasoline. By comparison, Alabama has a total tax per gallon of 11.0 cents; Arkansas, 12.5; Louisiana, 12.0; Tennessee, 12.0," the spokesman said.

Meridian sponsors non-smoking day

The American Cancer Society is sponsoring "D" Day June 19 in Meridian, a day for encouraging smokers to quit smoking for one day and sign up for a follow-up quit smoking clinic.

The program, so-sponsored by the American Temperance Society of the Seventh Day Adventists, is directed by Mr. Shirley Briggs of Meridian.

Meridian Mayor Tom Stuart has issued a proclamation declaring June 19 as "D" Day.

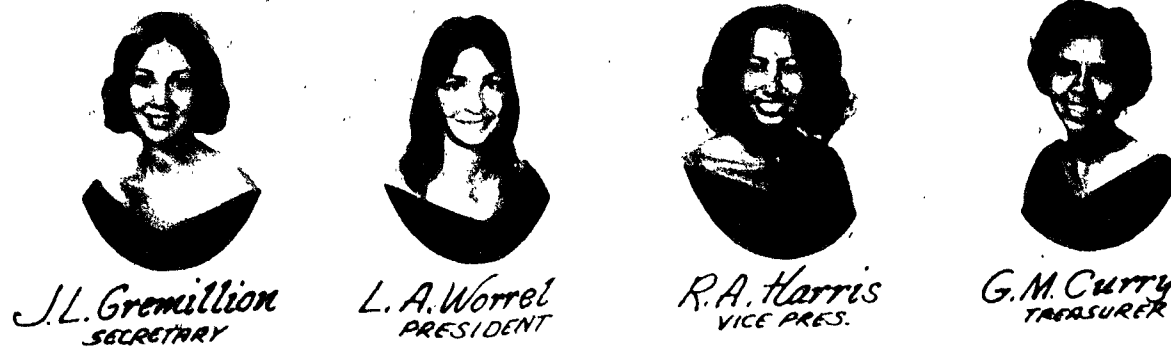

Certificates will be presented to participants who make it through the day without smoking and they will be invited to attend the quit smoking clinic beginning June 22 at Rush Hospital in Meridian.

MEC president urges competitive bidding on 16th section land

President of the Mississippi Economic Council, Walter L. Ellis III of Kosciusko said last week that current high income from mineral rights lease of 16th section land indicates that the surface land leases should be leased on a competitive basis to assure maximum returns for the school children of the state.

Ellis cited a lease in Rankin County which earned $130,334 after the bidding was offered competitively in comparison to its previous lease of $17,000.

"Currently the surface leases of 16th Section lands are leased at the discretion of the board of supervisors with approval by the local school boards while mineral leases of 16th section land are subject to competitive bidding by law,

Ellis said. "It is obvious that opening the surface or land use of 16th Section lands to free and competitive bidding would generate increased revenue for the state's schools," Ellis said.

The MEC president said that some counties had instituted competitive bidding for 16th Section surface leases on their own initiative and have shown considerable increases in revenue.

"Total income for leases on four 16th Section surface leases in Leflore County for a five-year period from 1975-80 jumped from $161,000 for 1970-75 to $481,000 when the leasing procedure was opened to competitive bidding," Ellis said.

Another example of increased revenue for 16th Section lands occurred in Madison County last year.

"The average lease price for agricultural lands jumped from $1 to $24 per acre when the Madison County Board of Supervisors opened the county's leasing of 16th Section land to competitive bidding," Ellis said.

The Kosciusko businessman said the management of 16th Section land was improved by legislation passed in 1974 when local school boards were given veto power over 16th Section land leases, but noted that the legislature failed to implement the key to improved revenue for the lands by not passing the competitive bidding legislation.

"The 16th Section lands in Mississippi will never produce the maximum amount of revenue for school children unless a free and open competitive bidding system is instituted," Ellis said.

A & I announces business loans

The Mississippi Agriculture and Industrial Board released figures last week showing that loans to small businesses in the state had reached a peak during the month of May.

Edward F. Mitcham, manager of the Small Business Assistance Department said a total of nine loans were approved in the amount of $191,500, the highest figure recorded since the department's creation in 1972.

"The SBAD provides the small businessman or woman with advice and financial assistance and is especially helpful to someone who is starting out under-capitalized," Mitcham said.

Since its inception, the SBAD has made loans in the amount of $3,517,400, as of May 31, 1975. Through the 173 loans approved, 486 new jobs were created, Mitcham said.

Working through local banks, the department offers a 75 percent guaranty to the banks," the director explained. "The maximum for these long term private loans is $33,000 for a period of up to ten years. Interest is computed at the bank's going rate plus a guaranty fee of one percent on the guaranteed portion."

Persons interested in obtaining more information concerning the loan guaranty program may write the State Small Business Assistance Department at P.O. Box 849, Jackson, Mississippi 39205, or call 354-6715.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

In 1852, more than a century ago, a distinguished teacher at the University of Mississippi, traveled from Pike county, crossed the Pearl River at Columbia, and began an exploration of the little-known Piney Woods that stretched eastward along the coast. In his (unpublished) Journal, Benjamin Wallis wrote, "...the greater part of the route today (August 10, 1852) was through a forest of nearly universal long-leaf pine with very little undergrowth but bearing a luxuriant crop of coarse grass furnishing fine summer pasturage for cattle, of which those seen today being very fat."

This fine forage was the reason for the large herds of cattle which, until 1850, made the coastal counties so prosperous and the watering-place known as Stovall's Columbia Springs so popular. But in '52, Wallis found the pleasant little summer resort deserted and falling into ruin.

He soon found out why. In the 1840s too many cattle were put into the woods and the rich land was the victim of overgrazing, and lumbering began to take the place of cattle-raising; in one county Wallis found nine mills, and in Hancock county an innkeeper told him that he had shipped more than a thousand barrels of tar the last year. Wallis also inspected a large steam sawmill just going into operation at Gainesville, and the remains of the big brick kilns at Napoleon (formerly Pearlton) which supplied material for the construction of Fort Pike in Louisiana.

Lumbering brought faster and bigger profits than cattle-raising, and within half a dozen years almost every village in the Piney Woods had at least one sawmill in operation and was shipping lumber to many parts of the world.

But the lumbering industry proved to be as stupidly selfish in its operations as its predecessor, the cattle business, had been before it. With hundreds of sawmills, kilns and distilleries working overtime, it was not many years before the beautiful virgin forests were pillaged of all Grade A lumber. The mills moved on to other forests, mostly in the northwest, and one by one the cattle-raisers returned to the former Piney Woods country. Only this time they concentrated on raising dairy cows, and a substantial milk industry was developed, which today is adding more than $200 million annually to the State's economy. It is estimated that now there are more than 1900 Mississippi farmers supplying milk and milk products to the market.

Mr. Wallis would be pleased if he could see the carefully supervised herds that graze the Piney Woods country today.

Dairy farmers - a dying breed?

There has been a trend in the past several decades - a trend that has led the young man away from his farm oriented upbringing. Is the dairyman-farmer a dying breed? Surveys of dairymen over the past year have shown they all seem to agree on one thing: there are becoming fewer and fewer dairies.

Many dairy farmers are in a fight for survival. Income from milk sales on many farms is not enough to cover cash production costs. Consequently, there are little, if any, funds available to pay for family labor and management, or to cover fixed expenses such as depreciation, interest on investments, taxes, etc.

We know that a business can operate for only a limited time if it isn't covering its total cost. Just how long the business would operate under the above conditions depends upon the owner's equity position and just how far his creditors would carry him. It also depends upon just how long the owners are willing to watch their equity capital go down the drain.

I guess if this brief review of business economics serves any useful purpose, it's to remind us that many of Hancock County dairymen haven't covered total costs for several months. Some have already gone out of business and I'm sure others will follow soon.

There are 16 dairies remaining in Hancock County. Each dairy has about $200,000 invested in land, cows, equipment and buildings. This is a combined total investment of $3,200,000. 24,000 lbs. of milk is produced each day of 8,360,000 lbs. per year.

From milk, cows and calves, farm crops sold and money borrowed, the dairy farmer in Hancock County puts close to $1,000,000 into the economy each year.

Washington Report

By: Rep. Trent Lott

WORKERS' TAX

I didn't like the President's energy proposals when he announced them in January and I voted against them at that time, but until Congress comes up with something better, the President's game is the only game in town.

At any rate, it beats the dickens out of anything the liberal majority in the Congress has proposed.

Basically, the President is increasing the import fee for foreign oil by a second one dollar tariff. Like the first one dollar tariff imposed in February, this one will raise the price of gasoline an average of about 1.5 cents a gallon - or a total of three cents a gallon for the combined tariffs. The President says he acted because the Congress failed to act.

Listening to the screams from enraged Congressmen and Senators, you would think the President slipped something by them when they weren't looking. That's hardly the case. In fact, the President delayed the latest tariff not once but twice - simply because Congress told him they would come up with something better.

Even some of the President's harshest critics agree that he waited patiently for Congress to come forward with a reasonable alternative. Many who didn't like the idea of another tariff admit that they have no quarrel with his latest move.

"The President did, in fact, defer action," The Washington Post maintained in an editorial. "But the country cannot drift forever. The President was right to raise the tariff now."

That same editorial went straight to the heart of the problem in its last paragraph: "A confused and divided Congress is evidently willing to let the President take the action - and the blame. But if this country cannot pull itself together around any response except steadily escalating tariffs, that political failure of inspiration on the part of the Congress will only amplify the unwholesome economic effects of indiscriminate and continuous price increases."

To put it in simpler terms, Congress has dilly-dallied around long enough.

Like the Monday morning quarterback, the House Ways and Means Committee is considering a bill that would rescind both one dollar tariffs. In place of the tariffs, the bill would raise the federal gasoline tax three cents now and 20 cents later - right after the next Congressional election!

Now isn't that a slick way of handling it?

The President's approach, to be sure, is an indirect tax on the American people since it includes a one dollar tax on each barrel of imported oil, which is an across-the-board tax on all petroleum products - not just gasoline.

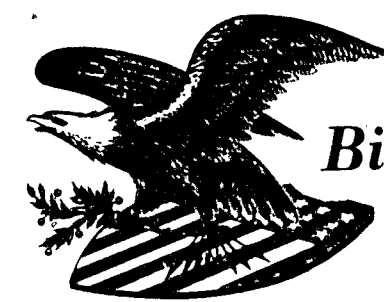

Congress, however, is talking about taxing just gasoline - not other derivatives. That's where South Mississippians will take it on the chin: higher prices at the gasoline pump. I call it a "workers' tax."

Any way you slice it, the Ways and Means bill would end up costing the consumer much more for gasoline than the President's proposal. And for South Mississippians who must drive to work, that is a critical point.

Many South Mississippians have told me that we don't have an energy crisis - and they're probably right. But unless we do something to reduce our dependence on foreign oil, we will always face the distinct threat of another Arab oil embargo.

As I said in a recent Rules Committee meeting, it's high time for Congress to work with the President. It's time for Congress and the President to get together and act for the good of the country.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

Saturday, June 14, has been proclaimed by President Gerald Ford as "FLAG DAY." Our citizens are urged to display their flags in their homes, places of business and all public buildings.

The populace is also reminded there will be a Flag Day Parade Saturday at 2 p.m. in Gulfport sponsored by the Sons and Daughters of the American Revolution.

Although Flag Day is not an official national holiday, the President of the United States each year proclaims a public observance. At least one state, Pennsylvania, celebrates it as a legal holiday.

First officially observed in 1877 to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the selection of the Flag of the United States, Congress requested all public buildings to fly the flag on June 14 of that year. In 1885 Bernard J. Cigrand, a school teacher in Waubesa, Wisconsin, started a life-time fight to establish Flag Day as an annual nation-wide celebration. As a result of his untiring crusade President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation on May 30, 1916 establishing Flag Day as an annual national celebration. Cigrand died in 1932, having lived to see his mission accomplished.

In addition to displaying the flag and, when possible, viewing a patriotic parade, it is recommended that we pause to contemplate the deep meaning of our official flag - the stars and stripes. This is a time for "checking the condition of the flag." If the flag is soiled, weather worn, wind-torn or faded it should be honorably retired.

To briefly review flag etiquette: The flag should be hoisted briskly, lowered slowly, gathered and folded before it touches the ground and when displayed with other flags raised first - lowered last.

When our national flag hangs from a staff on the speaker's platform or in the channel of a church, it should be on the right of the speaker or minister as he faces the audience. If the flag is displayed anywhere else in the room, it should be on the right of the audience as the people face front.

The military fold of the flag is accomplished by folding the flag twice lengthwise to form a long strip, then starting at the stripe end and using a series of triangle folds. In caring for the flag it may be mended, dry-cleaned or washed and may be displayed as long as it is in respectable condition. Outdated flags or flags in poor condition should be burned.

Our nation's flag is a living sight as it flies in the wind. Its striking design and brilliant colors stand for the country's land, its people, its government, and its ideals. Men and women have died to protect our flag from dishonor - every citizen should honor national flag - on FLAG DAY - AND EVERY DAY.

A word about "Old Glory"

By ETHEL EVANS

If the American Flag could talk, it would probably say something like this: "I have a most interesting history, and I often wonder just how many of our school children (and grown-ups too!) really know how I looked with just nine horizontal red and white stripes when a group of Revolutionaries, who called themselves The Sons of Liberty, brought me into existence in 1776. By the time I was ten years old I'd grown thirteen red and white stripes and added a rattlesnake figure with the words 'Don't tread on me.' This was because we were having a little trouble with our English forefathers, who dubbed me 'The Flag of the Rebellious Stripes.' George Washington's troops marched under me, and I flew at the topmast of the first Navy Jack.

I was growing up and changing with the times, and in 1777 the Second Continental Congress decreed that I have thirteen stripes of alternating red and white, with thirteen stars, white on a blue field. There has been a bit of controversy about a lady named Betsy Ross and the part she played in my growing-up period, but I like to think that she did help me become more beautiful.

By 1795 I had added two more stripes and two more stars, and it was at this point I inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star Spangled Banner." Then in 1818 Congress decided that I'd better return to having just thirteen stripes as originally planned, but that a star would be added to my field each time a new State was added. By 1912 I had 48 stars! And it was just no time at all before I added another and another (Hawaii and Alaska were responsible for my last two), and that's how I look today - 50 bright stars on a field of blue, with thirteen red and white alternating stripes. I am the proud symbol of a Nation's struggle for independence, its growth into a mighty world power, and I am, indeed, the showpiece of free men.

There are rules governing my use, and I'm happy to say that most folks know and observe them, for these rules teach respect, and that's very important to me. And when the Pledge of Allegiance is said to me, with everyone standing with their right hands over their hearts, I'm so awfully proud and happy, for I know they are offering praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings of liberty.

So, on Flag Day, June 14, this year, I hope that just everybody will prove their patriotism and loyalty by being sure that I, their AMERICAN FLAG, proudly flies over this part of the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave!

Packing company recalled

Editor, Sea Coast Echo,

Just a few words to let you know that I enjoyed the article and the picture in the Echo. It was wonderful. My friends thought so much of it, also.

I am sorry that I could not get my wits together about the factory when Mrs. Pilet asked. It was first the Torsche Packing Company of Baltimore, Maryland. The 1915 storm destroyed it. When it was rebuilt the name was changed to Peerless Oyster Company. There were about 12 schooners that had to travel by sail to get the seafood.

They also had a shipyard, and a Black Smith Shop. There was a pier on the East side of the factory and a ferry operated daily to and fro to Henderson Point.

Where the playground at the Yacht Club is now located there was a turtle factory. Harry Thurston was the owner. The turtles came in box cars. One weighed as much as 750 pounds. They certainly did make good turtle soup.

Sincerely,
JOE TACONI

Editor's note: The article with Mr. Taconi appeared in the May 22 issue of the Echo.

Hancock General praised

Editor, Sea Coast Echo,

Having spent much time in our Hancock General Hospital during the past ten days visiting a friend who is ill, it gives me much pleasure to comment on this fine local institution.

In my first visit I was taken on a tour of the cafeteria, kitchen and supply area, and was impressed with the quantity of efficient equipment and the immaculate area where the food is prepared.

On each visit I observe a different department, and come away with the impression that we should be thankful for a well run hospital with a fine staff, which operates so efficiently to give such good patient care.

One day I stopped to say a prayer in the little chapel, and I thanked God for the many community people who had worked long and hard to make this much needed institution available to us - the wonderful doctors who many times work round the clock, the Board of Directors, those who operate the Blood Bank and the donors, the very fine Women's Auxiliary, the Candy Strippers and the many, many local people who give assistance to help you and me when we are ill and in need merit our thanks and appreciation.

Won't you join the Boosters of our Hancock General Hospital? We need the support of every local citizen.

Kiln children's therapy center opens

KILN, Miss. — Crippled children in Hancock County and all along the Gulf Coast were given a big boost here Friday with dedication services for the first therapy center for such children in the Gulf Coast area.

A new $157,000 building, which forms the core of the center and which was erected wholly by the voluntary labor of U. S. Navy Seabees from Reserve Mobile Construction Battalions stationed at Gulfport, was transferred to foundation director David Turner by Seabee director, Captain Ward DeGroot.

Turner and foundation secretary-treasurer Bob Himmelsbach Friday gave credit to the "hundreds of contributors and volunteers who donated their time, material and money to make the creation of the therapy center a reality."

Himmelsbach estimated that the building had cost the foundation only about $19,000 with the donation of the Seabee labor and much of the material used in the project.

"The most beautiful thing about this center is that it is really the people's project," said Himmelsbach. "The people on the coast have put up the money and the time for this project and it is their success story. It just shows you what people can really do. We have had help from the outside too, like the Seabees, but they never would have come to build the center for us if the people hadn't supported it."

The crippled children foundation currently serves about 28 children in the Gulf Coast area from Ocean Springs to Slidell and Picayune and estimates that it will be serving 60 children as soon as the center opens Monday. Turner estimated that there are about 300 children in the immediate area who need the center. The only other therapy centers nearby are in New Orleans and Jackson.

Turner, who himself is a parent of a daughter stricken with polio, said he first conceived of the idea of a center two years ago when moving to Kiln and discovering no center in the area, other than an overcrowded one in New Orleans, to accept his daughter, Shelley.

"At first I didn't think of a center," Turner said. "I just tried to get together with other parents of crippled children in the area to see if we could pool our resources and at least get a therapist to come out to help the children."

"There hadn't even been a therapist in Hancock county for ten years. Then after we decided to build the center, it took quite a while just making plans and collecting enough money to start building it."

The new center employs a full time therapist, Miss Lorraine Gilbert and a medical secretary, Miss Marie Thurman. Miss Gilbert, a graduate of the University of Utah, has been working with the 28 children presently enrolled in the center at their homes. The new center will offer a full array of therapy equipment including a whirlpool, weights and pulleys and facilities for hydrotherapy. Planned for the future is an olympic size swimming pool with very shallow depths for the younger children.

All of the equipment presently in the center has been purchased by a grant from the Mississippi Regional Medical Program. The services of the center will be offered free to any child who needs therapy with the only requirement being that he be referred to the center by a physician. Turner said that the center also offers free transportation. At present volunteer drivers transport the children to the center, but Turner said he soon hopes to get a van for them.

"This is only the beginning of what we have to do to provide adequate services for the children," Turner said. "We are already making plans for expansion, and we need the continued support of all of the contributors and volunteers who have gotten us this far."

The foundation is completely funded on the money collected from individual contributors. Operating costs of the center are kept at a minimum. There are only two paid employees, the therapist and the medical secretary, but Turner said expansion of the center would mean intensified fund raising drives even after the center is open.

A few of the projects that foundation volunteers have organized to collect contributions are street corner collections, walkathons, turkey shoots, cake sales and special projects such as operation of the concession stands at the recent Stennis air show.

Turner said that one of the greatest sources of contributions are the 168 sponsor families who donate $25 per year to sponsor a child at the center. In return the family receives monthly reports and pictures of the progress their foster child is making.

Although Turner, who is a tax consultant by profession, has been the main designer of the therapy center from the beginning, he is the first to insist that the Crippled Children's Foundation in Kiln is a total community project making use of the individual skills that each member has to offer.

"I can't tell you how excited I am to see this day," he said. "There are so many people that have worked so hard for this, and the best part is that we have already been able to see the results of our work this past year. That is the most exciting thing, to see a child who could hardly crawl through the door a year ago come walking through. And we will be able to do so much more now with this center."

VA announces nine month college benefits extension

The Veterans Administration announced this week that nine additional months are available to some veterans and military service personnel who ran out of GI Bill eligibility before receiving their undergraduate college degrees.

VA officials estimated 13,000 trainees will take advantage of the new benefit at a cost of $26.3 million during the first year. GI Bill enrollments of 2.4 million in fiscal year 1974 included 1.3 million college trainees, officials said.

VA said the nine months extension was approved December 3 for veterans and inservice personnel who meet certain prerequisites.

The extension is available only to those originally eligible for 36 months entitlement, the office said, and they must have exhausted it while enrolled in a bachelor or first professional degree program.

Officials explained that applicants who have associate degrees are eligible for the extension, but not those who have, or who are eligible to receive their bachelor or first professional degree. Nor can an applicant with an associate degree use the extra time to earn a second associate degree.

Another restriction is that persons eligible for education benefits under more than one law may not receive more than 48 months of training plus an extension to the end of the enrollment period.

VA officials also pointed out that applicants who hold graduate degrees may not use the extension for either graduate or undergraduate study.

Interested eligible persons are urged to contact the nearest VA office, or a nearby veterans service organization.

Proceeds will go to St. Ann's Church and the Crippled Children's Foundation.

The public is invited.

Six merchants suffer smoke damage after ashes ignite

By BOB INNES
Long Beach Bureau

Thanks to the prompt action of the Long Beach Fire Department Sunday, six merchants received only minor smoke damage to their stores in Poillon's Center at Cleveland Ave. and Highway 90, according to Fire Chief Pete Clegg.

Firemen who answered a call to the center at 9:22 a.m. found smoke coming from Lee's Lounge.

Chief Clegg said the cause of the fire was apparently due to hot ashes dumped into a trash bag underneath a sandwich warmer that had been left on in Lee's Lounge.

Clegg said that only minor smoke damage was received by adjacent merchants including Ed's Family Restaurant, Wingo's Tackle Shop, the Hour Glass fashions, Daniel's Carpet and Prestige Realty.

Lee's Lounge received the heaviest damage. Fire inspectors said cabinets in the back and a counter received the worst damage. No estimate of total damages was available.

County agent urges cattlemen to vaccinate against brucellosis

Mississippi cattlemen may lose millions of dollars in the sale of their herds this year if they do not protect their heifer calves with the brucellosis vaccination said Hancock County Agent John Smith this week.

Smith is presently conducting a countywide campaign to vaccinate all heifer calves three to eight months old free of charge against brucellosis, commonly known as bangs disease, which causes infected cows to abort their calves and can cause Undulant Fever in humans if it contaminates the milk of dairy cows in the herd.

"Brucellosis is basically confined to cattle in 13 southern states, because most of the northern states have successfully wiped the danger out by regular vaccinations," Smith said. "Because the disease is mostly located in the south, nine states have banned cattle coming from this area, and the cattlemen stand to lose a lot of money if we don't vaccinate these calves."

Smith said that most Mississippi cattlemen are in the business of selling young calves to feedlot operators in other states where they will be fattened and resold. The county agent said that southern cattlemen who have not been vaccinating their calves for brucellosis find that they have an added expense when they sell their herds because they are required to quarantine the herd at their own expense for 60 days before delivery. During the quarantine period blood must be drawn from each calf and tested for the disease.

"We hope to make the brucellosis vaccination program a continuous program throughout the year," Smith said. "Cattlemen should vaccinate their beef stock from three to eight months old and their dairy stock from three to six months old. This program costs the cattlemen nothing. All they have to do is call my office and make an appointment."

This summer the vaccination program is being aided by 41 students of animal science from Mississippi State University who have been trained to give the vaccinations. The Mississippi

Board of Animal Health will take over the project when the students return to school in the fall.

Serving Hancock County this summer from Mississippi State is Jamie Ladner, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ladner of Dedeaux, Miss. Ladner estimated that he has vaccinated 260 calves since the beginning of the program. Approximately 500 calves have been vaccinated since the program began in March, but Smith estimated that at least 1,200 to 1,300 calves must be vaccinated annually to completely control the disease.

Smith said that the program was presently being funded by an appropriation of the state legislature and matching federal funds. He said that he hoped vaccination against brucellosis would be made mandatory by the state legislature. He is presently urging the Hancock County Cattlemen's Association to pass a resolution urging the state legislature to pass such a law.

"I think that basically the cattlemen are unaware of the problem," the county agent said. "I had some people tell me that with prices as low as they are now, it wasn't worth it to vaccinate the calves. But the prices are going to stay low if we don't protect the calves against this disease, and at no cost to the cattlemen, he can't lose."

Smith said in order to get this herd vaccinated a cattlemen should either make an appointment with Ladner (255-7218) or with the county agent's office.

Brucellosis protection

Jamie Ladner, a student of animal science from Mississippi State University, clamps the ear of a heifer calf he has just vaccinated against brucellosis. John Barnett and Philip Moran aided Ladner Tuesday at the Moran farm to vaccinate all of the heifer calves three to eight months old as part of a program offered free of charge to Mississippi cattlemen by the Mississippi Board of Animal Health.

Army offers college opportunities

The U.S. Army is offering Mississippians the opportunity of enrolling in college at the same time they enlist said Lt. Col. William C. Sanders, commander of the Jackson District Recruiting command.

Sanders said 41 schools within his command area are participating with the Army in a cooperative education program entitled Project AHEAD.

"We think it's the finest education program to come along in many years," said Sanders. "Project AHEAD will make it simple for young men and women to get much of their credit toward a degree while in the military, and through their own home area or home state school, if they so desire."

The Army commander explained that the soldier-student could enroll in any of the nearly 1,000 colleges and universities participating in Project AHEAD across the nation.

"If he wants to enroll, say, in UCLA instead of a Mississippi school, then he can arrange enrollment there if qualified," Sanders said.

Soldier-students must meet normal entry requirements at the school of their choice, just as a regular on-campus student must, he said. Most of the junior and community colleges involved in Project AHEAD participation have open admissions policies, however, so some entry requirements are waived.

Army recruiters have all the necessary information concerning Project AHEAD and the participating schools. The school becomes a repository for records as well as a ready counselor-advisor while the youth is in the service, and smooths the way for his or her coming on campus as a fulltime student when Army duty is over.

The loss of course credit is virtually eliminated by this program, and additional credit for military experience, schooling, and jobs is assured, Sanders said.

Mississippi schools participating in Project AHEAD as of the first week of June are:

4-Yr. Schools - Alcorn State University, Jackson State University, Mississippi

College, Mississippi State University, Mississippi Valley State University, Rust College, Tougaloo College, University of Mississippi, University of Southern Mississippi, William Carey College; and

Junior Colleges - Coahoma, Copiah-Lincoln, East Central, East Mississippi, Hinds, Holmes, Itawamba, Jones, Meridian, Mississippi Delta, Mississippi Gulf (Gautier, Hattiesburg and Perkinston campuses), Northeast Mississippi, Northwest Mississippi, Pearl River, Southwest Mississippi, Ulica, Wood.

Waveland proposes long term repayment

Waveland Mayor John Longo said he had not as yet received approval of the Board of Aldermen's proposal to repay the $377,000 Governor's Emergency Council Camille loan over a long, unspecified period of time.

Longo said that he had personally spoken with the director of Budget and Accounting Francis Geoghegan last week and proposed that the loan, of which all but $100 has been spent, be repaid gradually over a long period of time. The mayor said he hoped that by drawing out the payments the loan could be repaid out of city funds, without raising the taxes.

Longo said that the city planned to dedicate two mills of the present city budget for repayment of the loan. He pointed out that based on Waveland's present $4 million assessment, a two mill tax as provided for by state law would not bring in sufficient revenue to repay the loan.

The mayor also said that $100,000 that was used as interim financing on the city's $4 million sewer system can be repaid to the state when reimbursement is received on the project.

Stennis praises passage of weapons bill

Senator John C. Stennis of Mississippi, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Armed Services, said Friday the wide margin of defeat of all major amendments to reduce the $25 billion weapons authorization bill represented a victory for a strong defense system in the U. S. Congress.

"The victory was achieved in the face of strong, well organized and well prepared opposition," Stennis said. "To a number of military programs which I consider important and essential to our national security. As a result of the votes on at least seven key amendments, all attempts to cut back the military program were turned back."

The Mississippi lawmaker said that the defeat of the amendments by such substantial margins proved that the American people were in favor of military preparedness.

"Equally important these votes also carry a clear message to the President that there is strong, solid bipartisan support in the Senate in his efforts to obtain arms limitations and reductions on a mutual and balanced basis. This will strengthen the President's negotiation position in future arms control and limitation discussions," he said.

The Senator said the House and Senate bills were "not too far apart" and said that the House-Senate conference on the legislation will get and Beat three supervisor Oscar Peterson said he felt the county should let Geoghegan decide how the money was to be repaid.

In other business the board refused a request by J. D. McCulloch, Superintendent of Bay-Waveland public schools to repave three roads on school property. McCulloch had presented the request to the board at several earlier meetings, but the board had referred him to the Bay City Council for financing.

McCulloch told the board Wednesday that he had received a promise of $5,000 from the city to finance the project if the county would put up the rest. The county refused to grant the request, however, because they said the contract could not be let after July 1 and there was no time to complete specifications and advertise for the work.

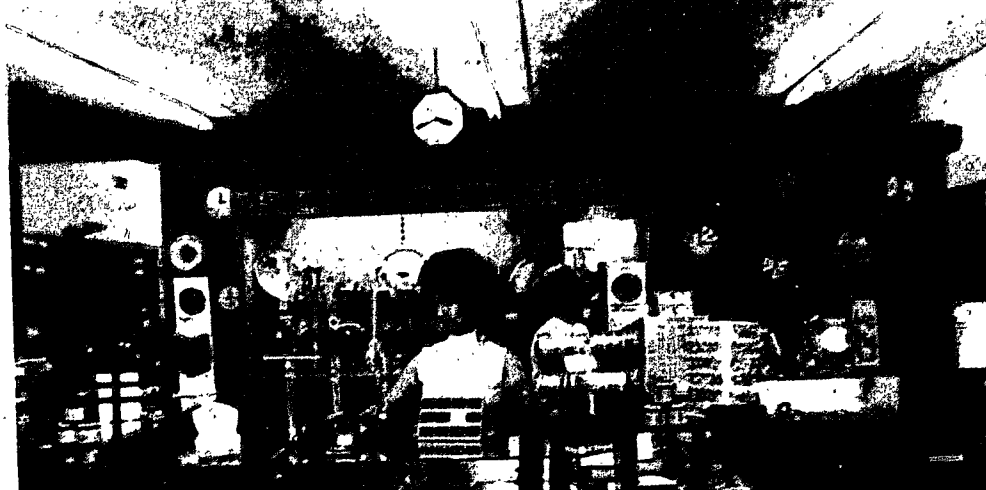

The three roads and estimated costs are the stadium road, $3,700; the Bay High road, $17,851; and the North Bay road, $2,849.

The supervisors accepted a bid from Flair Construction of Gulfport for the exhibit building at the county fair grounds. The project will cost $56,774 for the 80 foot by 190 foot base plus $12,560 for two additional bays. Construction of the building is expected to be completed by the Hancock County Fair in the fall.

The board voted to advertise for bids for the proposed City-County Library, at a cost of $295,000. Bids are scheduled for opening June 27.

The board will also advertise for the Kiln-Fenton-Delisle state-aid road Monday with bid opening set for July 7.

Mrs. Ruby said cats at the Pensacola show came mostly from the South, but added people will frequently travel great distances to show a cat.

Mrs. Ruby, who specializes in breeding, showing and selling her prize cats, presently has six cats including two males and four females. She specializes in persians, bi-colors, calicoes, parti-colors and solids.

Besides "Happy Hooker", Mrs. Ruby includes in her home "Delta Dawn", a cream; "Ruby Red Dress", a burnished burgundy; "Luv", a black persian; and her two mates "Odd Job" and "Tangle".

Mrs. Ruby considers "Tangle", a rare black and white, to be her best stud cat. "There's an interesting story behind Tangle," she explained. "Officially his father was named Pathfinders Tangle and was imported from Europe, but a fire destroyed the Old Calico Cattery he was in. The female, pregnant with Tangle, was saved and the cat is one of only two left in the bloodline," she explained.

The origin of each feline is also very different. For example, Ruby Red Dress comes from a cattery in Kentucky. Delta Dawn is from Canada. Luv is from Oregon and Odd Job is out of California.

As far as price goes, Mrs. Ruby says three factors determine each cat's price. The qualities include show, breeding, and pet. Mrs. Ruby said "Pussy's" Galore specializes in show cats.

"I have one that will sell for $625 and most of the others go for $400-$500," she said.

All cats come equipped with balarious personalities and are quite self-sufficient. "I can leave water and dry food out for them and not worry about them," Mrs. Ruby stated.

The cats at Pussy's Galore receive a different diet than "average" cats. "I feed them a combination of cooked and raw meats, vitamins, baby cereal and then of course dry catfood. There is no fish ever fed to any of my cats," Mrs. Ruby explained. Mrs. Ruby said if properly fed and cared for a cat has an average life of 17-20 years. There are over 12,000 catteries in the U.S. and Canada, she said.

All in all, showing and breeding cats is a timely hobby that Mrs. Ruby enjoys because her reward is the shows and ribbons she has won. Even the whole family gets involved which Mrs. Ruby says helps to build a sense of responsibility for her two children Kimmy, 10 and Kevin, 9.

Lott announces visit by VA administration

WASHINGTON -- Richard L. Roubush, administrator of the Veterans Administration, will make a personal visit June 30 to the VA Center in Biloxi, said Congressman Trent Lott.

Lott said Roubush will tour the facility and participate in a picnic on the VA Center grounds. He said members of the local VFW, American Legion, and Disabled American Veterans groups are invited to attend the event arranged by the entire Mississippi delegation.

"We're all very pleased and honored that Administrator Roubush is continuing his personal interest in the Biloxi facility," Lott said. "He has assured us several times that he is very much aware of the needs of the VA facility. This visit will give him the opportunity to see the facility first-hand."

Roubush is the second top-ranking VA official to visit the Biloxi Center this year. Dr. C. A. Rosanberg, assistant chief medical director for policy and planning, met with Biloxi VA officials in early February.

Roubush followed that visit with an announcement that a 70-bed nursing home care unit had been approved for the Biloxi Center. The cost of the project was set at $826,000.

Court to hear motion June 18

Holleman, Save the Bay president exchange heated words at hearing

By DAVID PIERSON

Harrison County Chancery Court Judge Frank Alexander Friday set June 18 as the hearing date on a request by Save the Bay, Inc. to temporarily stop the DuPont Company from developing 2,200 acres north of the Bay of St. Louis until the court considers the environmentalists' suit against the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission (MAWPCC).

Temper flared briefly during a short recess in the courtroom when MAWPCC attorney Boyce Holleman and Save the Bay president George Riess exchanged words.

The suit alleges that the MAWPCC prejudged the permit application in favor of DuPont, which is planning to construct a multi-million dollar titanium-dioxide plant north of the Bay of St. Louis in Delisle.

At an earlier hearing, Judge Alexander had ordered the state commission to produce at the Friday hearing all the records on its permit to the chemicals corporation. Instead, MAWPCC attorney Boyce Holleman produced a 40-50 pound filing drawer filled with records and asked the court for a security of costs to cover the copying of the voluminous material.

Alexander overruled Holleman's request and said the state commission must produce the records for the perusal of the court and the complainant. "I'll give you more time to make the records available," said Alexander, "but I won't give you much time. This should have already been done."

The hearing was originally set for the morning, but the two counsels met in Alexander's chamber for almost an hour to discuss motions by both sides. So the hearing was rescheduled for the afternoon.

When Holleman left the closed meeting, he said he planned to appeal Alexander's earlier decision to overrule a MAWPCC demurrer. Holleman had argued in the demurrer that the dispute between Save the Bay and the state commission was not in the court's jurisdiction and, therefore, the court should not have to produce the records.

However, Holleman retracted his appeal request when the afternoon session began. Before the afternoon session began, Save the Bay attorney Robert Homes and Holleman met to discuss the question of MAWPCC providing the court with the records. Homes presented Holleman with a written motion and asked Holleman if he would agree with the request.

"I'll have to read this and let you know," said Holleman, rising from his chair to leave the room. "Every time I come here you have something new to show me."

George Riess, who was standing nearby, answered Holleman. "I think that's coming from the wrong mouth," he said.

Holleman turned to face Riess and the two men stood only inches apart. "I don't care what you have to say, Mr. Riess," said Holleman. "I have nothing to say to you." Then he left the room.

During the afternoon session, Homes asked Alexander to make it clear that Save the Bay wanted all the records relevant to the permit. "We want the state commission to go on record as saying this is all they've got," said Homes, pointing to the filing drawer. "We have a right to know if this is all the material or if they are going to start adding things to the record as we go along."

Alexander reserved ruling on Homes' motion, saying, "I won't rule on something until I have a chance to see what we have here."

Holleman then asked that the June 18 hearing consider the merits of the case against the MAWPCC, since that is the date by which the MAWPCC must comply with the court's order to supply the record.

Homes argued that he would not have time to properly prepare his case if he would not get a chance to see the records until that day.

Judge Alexander ruled in favor of Homes and said the June 18 hearing would consider the Save the Bay request to stop DuPont from developing its acreage for construction of the pigments plant.

Save the Bay's attorney said at the hearing that he planned to introduce witnesses at the June 18 hearing to show that the MAWPCC did not gather all the necessary information to make a correct ruling on the permit. Holleman, however, argued that no new testimony could now be entered in the case. Alexander reserved ruling on this matter until the hearing date itself.

If the Save the Bay motion is granted it might also have the effect of stopping the Corps of Engineers' public hearing which is scheduled for June 19 at the Westside Community Center in Gulfport.

The Corps is considering granting a permit to DuPont governing the plant's outfall line. It is the last permit the DuPont Company needs to clear the way for construction.

Mansion designated historic landmark

The National Park Service Division of the U. S. Department of the Interior announced Sunday that Mississippi's Governor's Mansion has been designated a National Historic Landmark.

David Thompson, Regional Park Service Director from Atlanta, announced the department's decision during ceremonies officially opening the restored facility.

The National Historic Landmark designation, said Thompson, indicates that the 1840's Greek revival structure is of national significance for an understanding of American history in the realm of architecture. It says the building is a unique example of the Southern ante-bellum period of architecture and history.

An extensive three and one-half year project to restore the mansion, led by Mrs. Bill Waller, has just been completed and makes it the oldest authentic residence built in the United States specifically as the home for a governor.

The Mississippi Mansion is the second in the nation to receive a National landmark designation.

Mrs. Waller said, "This designation is a tribute to the thousands and thousands of Mississippians who contributed their time and money to the restoration process."

She specifically thanked school children who participated in the "Dimes for the Mansion" program and she acknowledged donations from garden clubs, women's clubs, businesses and several individuals.

Waller urges international trade

Governor Bill Waller urged the nation's governors to adopt a resolution calling on Congress and the State Department to revitalize America's role in the international marketplace at the National Governor's Conference in New Orleans this week.

"We must bolster our efforts in order to provide more jobs and better incomes for the working men and women of our nation," Waller said. "Increased activity for international commerce must be a top priority in the formulation of our foreign policy if we are to improve the American economy."

Hotline to handle park services

Joyce Shuford, Coordinator of the Governor's Hotline, said this week that the toll-free telephone information service located in the Governor's Office is ready to assist Mississippians in securing services at state parks allowing the cancellation of the toll free reservation number previously operated by the Park Commission.

"The Park Commission terminated its service because of several factors including cost and the fact that the use of our state parks is now running at a maximum and the reservations service was not necessary," she said. The Hotline number is 1-800-222-7629.

Drug division awards grants

Mike Rubenstein, a spokesman for the Division of Drug Misuse, Department of Mental Health, has announced the Division is awarding an additional $67,000 in treatment grants to three mental health centers in the State. Rubenstein said that these additional grants bring the total awarded by the Division exclusively for drug misuse treatment in Mississippi to $203,000.

He said the latest recipients are the Region I Mental Health Center in Clarksdale ($21,000), and ($25,000), the Region VII Region IV Mental Health Mental Health Center in Center in Corinth ($21,000).

Mobile Medic discusses heart attacks

Life-saving techniques to be used in the event of a heart attack were discussed Tuesday by Robert Andrews, a paramedic employed by Mobile Medic Ambulance Service in Gulfport, to senior citizens at the Valena C. Jones Center. The workshop was in conjunction with the "Safety Town" project sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary.

Andrews said out of the 660,000 deaths a year in the United States due to heart attack, 75 percent die before they reach a hospital, mainly due to ignorance of these life saving techniques. He listed the common warning signs of a heart attack as prolonged pressure or squeezing pain in the center of the chest behind the breastbone, pain in the shoulder, arm neck or jaw, sweating, arm nausea, vomiting or shortness of breath. Andrews said the symptoms may subside and then return.

"The biggest enemy in a heart attack is time," said Andrews, "and knowing what to do and acting promptly can save a friend or loved one's life."

He said symptoms of a suspected heart attack should be described immediately to a doctor, and he stressed the importance of keeping calm, keeping the heart attack victim in a sitting position and keeping the airway open. No fluids should be administered, he said.

Andrews said Mobile Medic is willing to teach the technique of coronary pulmonary resuscitation, which is also used in cases of electrical shock, drowning and pacemaker failure, to small groups without charge.

The paramedic said the American Heart Association has urged all persons to guard against heart attack and strokes by regular checkups. He added that smoking cigarettes, eating foods high in saturated fat and cholesterol, being overweight and getting little physical exercise increase the chances of heart attacks.

Another health project planned by the Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary is a first aid program for all school age children. Aiding in the program will be local physicians, nurses, first aid instructors, Gulf Coast Mental Health Drug Abuse Center and Mobile Medic Ambulance Service. "Katie's Coloring Book," warning against the misuse of drugs will be distributed to third grade students.

Bay rally trims Steelers in late innings, 10-9

By DAVID PIERSON
Echo Sports Editor

Arnold Fairconnetue tripled in the bottom of the seventh inning and scored on a wild pitch to give the Bay St. Louis Diamondhead club a 10-9 win over the Pass Christian Steelers Thursday night in Bay St. Louis. The come-from-behind win vaulted the undefeated Diamondhead nine over Pass Christian and into first place in the Senior Babe Ruth League.

The Steelers jumped out to a 6-0 lead in the first inning and extended its lead to 9-2 before the Bay St. Louis team battled back to win the game in the late innings.

The previously-unbeaten Steelers staked starting pitcher Aaron Swanier to a six run lead in the first inning when the first three batters singled sharply to load the bases. Perry Jenkins then drove home the first run with a suicide squeeze, and Myron Cook ripped a line drive double down the left field line to score two more runs. After Steve Tate reached safely on an infielder's error, Vic Swanier lined a single to left, scoring Cook. Then both Tate and Swanier scored on wild pitches to give Pass Christian an apparently insurmountable lead.

In the fourth inning, the Bay

St. Louis team started its long fight back when Mike Favre and Adrian Favre drew bases on balls and Mac McDonald grounded a single to right scoring one run. A second run scored on the play when McDonald's single got past the right fielder and rolled to the fence.

Pass Christian again struck for a cluster of runs, scoring three times in the top of the fifth inning to extend the score to 9-2. Paul Stewart and Mark Jenkins rapped back-to-back singles, and Perry Jenkins bounced a ground rule double over the fence in left field. Myron Cook then followed by driving in his third and fourth Favre threw a wild pitch to the screen. Bay St. Louis recovered from the first inning wildness to win 10-9.

Doc Rhodes wins meet, totals 1,330

By DAVID PIERSON
Echo Sports Editor

Joseph "Doc" Rhodes of Bay St. Louis totalled 1,330 pounds in the Louisiana State Powerlifting Championships Saturday in Baton Rouge, a total that was good enough to claim the best lifter trophy of the meet as well as earn him first place honors in his weight class. However, the 1,330 total was a disappointment to the Bay native.

"I think I just overtrained for this event," he said Tuesday. "I've been peaking too often in too short a time. I've competed in five events in seven months, and now I'm fatigued."

Rhodes totalled 1,415 pounds at the Mississippi State Powerlifting Championships March 1 at St. Stanislaus, a mark which is just ten pounds off the world record. Six weeks later, Doc Rhodes represented the United States in the Pan-American Games and won first place in his weight class with a total of 1,365.

In the Louisiana event, he recorded lifts of 315 pounds in the bench press, 445 in the squat, and 570 in the dead lift to achieve his total. Although the event was a nine-lift meet, he only attempted seven of his lifts because he felt fatigued.

Rhodes said he plans to tone down his training now and give himself a rest before the national championships which are set for August 30-31 in York, Pennsylvania. He has won the national championships twice before, and a win this time will enable him to again represent the United States in the World Meet in November.

"I won't compete in any meets before the nationals," he added. "I just can't keep competing in meets every six or seven weeks. I can't reduce my body weight that often and still perform well."

SPORT TALK

By Charlie Henderson

Q. A question for golfers to tee off on. How many tournaments did Johnny Miller win in 1974? Is that the most ever?

A. Miller won eight official tournaments last year, plus a ninth over in Japan. That put him one up on Arnold Palmer who won eight in 1960, one of Arnie's big years. Miller set a money-winning record for the year of $352,709. But it's nowhere near the record for tournament wins. Byron Nelson holds that one, probably for all time. He won 19 tournaments (out of 31 he played in) in 1945, including 11 in a row. The U.S. Open and P.G.A. were in that string.

Q. How come National League MVP for 1974, Steve Garvey, wasn't even a regular before? Did the Dodger masterminds goof?

A. Garvey never had a position before. The Dodgers always knew he could hit, but he had problems at third base. It wasn't until he was stationed at first base late in 1973 that Garvey really put it all together, both at bat and in the field, and went on to become Most Valuable Player. "Most Valuable" are words that really fit the new Granada. It's a beautiful combination of luxury, performance and economy that puts it all together. Take a test drive soon!

JOHNNY KERSANAC

The Babe Ruth Player of the Week

Johnny Kersanac of Coast Electric collected nine hits in ten at-bats to earn the Babe Ruth Player of the Week honor.

Included among his safeties are a home run, three triples, one double, and four singles. He drove in 15 runs and scored six times to lead the Electricians charge into first place in the league standings.

Kersanac started the week with a perfect two-for-two performance against American Legion. In that game, he drove in four runs and scored twice. Wednesday he collected three hits in four plate appearances, including a triple, three runs batted in and three runs scored as Coast Electric moved past Hancock Supply 13-8.

He finished the week by hitting for the circuit—a single, a double, a triple, and a home run—in a suspended game against Rotary which the Electricians lead 18-14. Kersanac has 8 RBI's in the game.

Other players nominated for the weekly honor are Jeff Wallace and Kerry Geroux of American Legion; Mike Clifton, Kirk Folse, and Scott Colson of Hancock Supply; Walter Carter and Bruce Morreale of Dixie Realty; Bruce Cain, Brett Barrett, and Scott Cox of Coast Electric.

Long Beach loses on errors

Mark Jenkins lined a two-out single to left field in the bottom of the seventh inning to drive in the winning run and give the Pass Christian Steelers a 3-2 win over the testy Long Beach Blues Monday evening in Senior Babe Ruth League action.

The winless Blues appeared ready to change their fortune with sparkling defensive plays in the early innings, but fielding errors in the late innings ended their hopes.

Long Beach took a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning when Pass Christian's rightfielder dropped a fly ball with the bases loaded. The Steelers loaded the bases in the bottom of the inning, but a ground ball double play shut down the steeler threat.

From then on, however, the Blues defense failed to meet the challenge.

After Mark and Perry Jenkins delivered back-to-back singles in the sixth inning, Myron Cook reached safely on a fielding error, and the Steelers had their first run. Vic Swanier followed with a suicide squeeze play that further capitalized on the error, scoring a second run in the inning.

The Blues second error of the night came with one out in the seventh inning when Aaron Swanier reached safely on an overthrow to first base. Parker Duplessis walked to move runners to first and second, and with two out, Mark Jenkins provided the game-winning hit.

Myron Cook went the distance on the mound for Pass Christian, walking five, fanning ten, and giving up just three hits. Bill Lunsford took the loss for Long Beach. He fanned four and walked one better.

Pass Christian is 3-1 on the year while the Long Beach Blues are 0-4.

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Every week there is a new slant on fishing. The reason being fishing depends a lot on the weather, winds, rains and tides. The past week the tides have been falling all afternoon which is good for both speckle trout and fresh water fishing.

Some bass were caught up Jourdan River and some speckles were caught out front and down Cedar Point way but they were mostly school trout. Speckles were caught last week at Monroe's pier.

They must have moved on. None were caught at this spot over the weekend according to those going after them. There were several boats at this vicinity. All reported no fish there.

Bass (Green Trout) were hitting pretty good up Jourdan River and at Bayou LaCroix and a few were caught at Johnson Pass and Mills Bayou.

No soft crabs are being caught out front. Saw a few lights out Saturday night before it started raining. We still hope that they will start giving soon. Our mouths are watering for some of these delicacies.

Frogs are being gotten in Black Bayou and other streams on the Louisiana side now that the season is open. During April and May there is a closed season on frogging. Saw quite a few while fly fishing the other day.

John Pahlman was over visiting his dad, Levene, this weekend. John said he has been doing pretty good at fishing lately.

Mark Martinolich, Dan Lamier and Ford Lassiter were fishing down Cedar Point way Sunday afternoon. They had been fishing at the R.R. Bridge and at Monroe's pier with no success. Mark is the grandson of Andy Martinolich.

Should know something about fishing if he takes after his grandpa.

Timothy Haggerty and Lorraine Linker were my guests over the weekend. Both love to fish. Caught a mess of croakers. That's all. Tried hard crabbing, didn't get one. Better luck next time, folks.

Met Major Norman of Pass Christian up Bayou LaCroix. He and his young son were cat fishing. The Major is an old timer in this neck of the woods and is a real fisherman.

A group from Picayune was also fishing for catfish. Mr. Bounds was one of them. They do it the right way. Sleep in a big camper, enjoy fish fries and come down quite often.

Merchants Bank, Gulf National tie for first place

Riemann, 4-3

Andy Perniciaro held the league leading Merchants Bank ballclub in check most of the way, striking out five and giving up just six hits as Riemann edged the Expos 4-3. The loss spoiled the Expos' hopes of taking the first half championship without a playoff game.

Riemann trailed 3-1 going into the bottom of the sixth inning when Ronald Lyons and Scott Saucier drew bases on balls. Mike Ladner reached safely on an error and Lyons ran home with the first run of the inning. Then David Chasez stroked a single driving home the tying and winning runs for Riemann.

Andrew Haas, the losing pitcher for Merchants Bank, had a perfect three-for-three day at the plate.

Riemann 503 21-11 10

American Legion, 4-0

David Strong threw a six-hit shutout last Wednesday to lead the American Legion Colts to a 4-0 win over the Jaycees in little league action.

Strong also led all his teammates in hitting with a two-for-three performance at the plate.

Bobby Richardson and Dwayne Benoit each got two hits for the losing Jaycees. Steve Farve took the mound loss.

The Colts scored all their runs in the second inning with David Strong providing the key hit, a bases-loaded triple.

Merchants Bank, 11-1

Andrew Haas slammed a bases-loaded triple in the first inning and crashed his second home run of the year in the fifth to guide the Merchants Bank Expos to a 11-1 win over Hancock Bank and a share of the first half championship.

Haas drove in five runs, scored twice, and went three-for-three to lead the Expos in the 11-hit assault. Mike Pendergrast went three-for-three and Brian Adam contributed two hits for the winners.

Steve Seymour went the distance on the mound for Merchants and got the win. Ricky Hardie took the loss for the Lions.

Gulf National, 10-7

The surprising Riemann Stars, coming off a 4-3 upset win over the league leaders, almost pulled off its second miracle in a row when it rallied from ten runs down in the fifth inning to lose 10-7.

The Gulf National Bank Cards only needed a win to tie Merchants Bank for the first half championship and quickly ran up a 10-0 lead and needed only three outs to win by the ten run rule when the Stars exploded for seven runs on four hits and five walks.

Neal Wilkerson came on in relief for the Cards in the fifth inning and finally stopped the Fifteen players came to the plate and banded out six hits to put the game out of reach for the Colts.

Usually they get their share of fresh water cats. Bayou LaCrosse is their stomping grounds. Bounds is a fly fisherman also. Said he has been catching all kinds of bream up Picayune way.

Gene Lueders invited me on a trip to the marshes. Goes on a house boat with his friends. More on this later when I hear how they made out with the speckles.

Regretted hearing of the death of Roy Craft last week. Roy was a real sport and had a lot of friends hereabout.

Catalpa worms are an ideal bait for bass and perch. They are used mostly on perch poles for still fishing. Each worm means a fish is the old saying.

It amazes me how people call playing golf stupid. It can't be so stupid when our president, senators, congressmen, doctors, lawyers, etc. play the game.

It can't be so stupid a game when Ray Floyd just Sunday won the Kemper Tournament and collected $50,000. Jack Nicklaus and others of his caliber have won millions of dollars. When folks say chasing the pill around the course, just ignore them. They don't know what they're saying.

In the older days locally we had such men as Bob Genin, C.C. McDonald, Sr., Oscar Bragg, Bob Mitchell, Fred Wright, Albert Hitt, myself and others who played the game, we weren't stupid.

Today among the young men who play golf are Sheldon Seuzeneau, Boobie Blanchard, C.C. McDonald, David and Jim McDonald, John Scafide, John and Bub Genin. Golf ain't stupid, it's just another form of sport.

Everyone to his liking. I've played for the past 60 years and love it. It is also a lady's sport and we have some mighty good ones in our midst. For instance, Mrs. John McDonald, Mrs. Carey Spence and many more. Don't overlook golf as one of the best relaxing, enjoyable, and fun providing games.

For you folks who do fly and casting fishing get yourself an electric motor. It takes the work out of paddling. You can use both hands, which is necessary when fly fishing or casting. If you don't have one you'll wish you had. They are not expensive, but so dependable.

You folks who enjoy fly fishing should know that a falling tide is necessary for this kind of fishing. Went Monday at 11 a.m. and caught all our fish after 5 p.m. The tide was rising until 4 p.m. As the tide falls it takes out the bad water. Use your head as well as your tackle if you want to be an expert fisherman.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK - What we know about Don Leech is that he does all kinds of fishing and some hunting. Don will try anything if there is any sportmanship attached to it.

Remodel to Improve,
Not Just Replace

Remodel to Improve, Not Just Replace

A homeowner thinking of remodeling or modernizing his home this year might ask himself the question, "What have my windows done for me lately?"

If the answer is "Not much," perhaps the time has come to replace old-fashioned, hard to operate, drafty and heat-robbing windows with quality units. Besides providing ventilation, light and air, windows are designed to conserve energy and limit maintenance.

That's why it's important to think about window design and function when planning a remodeling project. Be sure the windows you choose are better than the units being replaced. This is especially important at a time when conserving energy by reducing heat loss has become so critical.

One leading window manufacturer, Andersen Corporation of Bayport, Minn., offers homeowners a choice when selecting and installing windows. Get maximum ventilation and low maintenance.

Large glass areas should face south to take maximum advantage of natural light. To shield the glass from excessive heat gain in summer when the sun is high, use

Gliding Doors and Patios Are 'Naturals' Together

Peanut butter and jelly, hot dogs and baseball, patios and a love of the outdoors. What do they have in common? They are part of a nearly endless list of things that are "naturals" together.

Because it supplies a family's needs for a place to enjoy relaxation, outdoor dining, entertaining and recreation, demand for patios among homeowners remains high. And adding a patio is still one of the most popular remodeling projects undertaken by homeowners each year.

Gliding doors are another "natural" with patios. Their easy operation makes access to a patio convenient while the large glass area serves to make the patio a visual extension of the room adjacent to it.

Andersen Corporation of Bayport, Minn., points out that homeowners can get low maintenance in addition to indoor comfort and ease of operation and expansion views. If their home building or remodeling plans include Perma-Shield vinyl-clad wood gliding doors, tempered safety glass is standard in Perma-Shield gliding doors.

Any do it yourselfer interested in installing gliding doors as part of an addition or patio project can get help from a pamphlet entitled "Easy Gliding Door Installation."

Renovation Restores

Couples enchanted by 200 year-old houses with such quaint touches as large fireplaces and narrow stairways often confuse renovation with restoration. Sometimes they buy these homes expecting to rediscover the essence of what life was like in the days prior to the Revolutionary War.

To accurately experience the lifestyle of a homeowner in Colonial times, restoration would require reconstruction, which means to return a home to as close to its original condition as possible. This would include living with such day to day hardships as no plumbing, no central heating or air conditioning and ill-fitting, drafty, poorly glazed windows.

Renovation, on the other hand, restores life and vigor to a house by bringing it up to date with plumbing, central heating and the traditional amenities that today's homeowner expects as a matter of course. At the same time, restoration of the home is maintained.

Restoration is great if the building is to be used as a museum. On the other hand, renovation raises the standard of living and improves the quality of life for the building's occupants.

Take windows for instance. Bay Windows are as traditional to Colonial architecture as a fireplace is to an early home. One way to get an authentically styled window with up-to-date comfort and convenience is to install a modern single-hay with the traditional look.

Perrina - Shild Nerrolite single-hay windows manufactured by Andersen Corporation link Colonial charm with the convenience of low maintenance vinyl. Available in double-hung units, single-hay, or pre-assembled and delivered ready for installation.

The preservative treated wood core frame is clad in long-life, low-maintenance rigid vinyl. The wood sash is protected by a four-step polyurea finish. Factory-applied weatherstripping assures snug closure against heat robbing air infiltration. When glazed with double-pane insulating glass, heat loss through the chere of reducing up and taking down sorn sash is ended.

Another traditional touch without the bother comes from divided light panes of rigid vinyl, which can also be purchased as an option

The Chapman Regatta is one of the most popular sailing events of the year because it brings together members from each of the clubs for keen competition which determines the Mississippi Gulf Coast Champion.

The regatta had its beginning in 1951 when Henry Chapman of BWYC and Wallace Chapman of Biloxi Yacht Club, each a past Commodore and President of Gulf Yachting Association, donated to the newly formed Mississippi Coast Yachting Association a perpetual trophy in memory of their father Will J. # Summer recreation director evaluates vandalism damage

By DAVID PIERSON
The Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Commission recently estimated that it would cost the city $4,700 in repair bills just to get the recreational facilities ready for the summer. However, with the number of vandalism incidents growing each week, Billy Rhodes, the summer recreation director, is looking at the problem more dimly.

"The real question now," he said, "is if we'll even get caught up before the summer is over. Granted, some of the damage may have come from normal use, but some of these things have to be the result of maliciousness."

A cursory study of the city's parks and playgrounds bears out Rhodes' contention -- swing seats are sliced in half, benches that were repaired just last week are broken, are taken apart, signs are defaced, loudspeakers stolen. He pointed to a water fountain behind Commagere Park. "We fixed that fountain last Tuesday," he said, "and look at it now." The water control button looked like it had been beaten in with a hammer. "It's completely unserviceable now," he added.

"It takes time, effort, and money to fix these things," Rhodes said. "And time and effort add up to money in the city's eyes because it has to pay for the help."

To add to his dilemma, Rhodes had his work force cut in half because one of the city's federal summer work programs was vetoed by President Gerald Ford. So Rhodes now has only five college students, who are working under a work-study program, to help with the upkeep of three ballparks, seven satellite parks, three public beaches, and three public piers.

"Our first priority must be the upkeep of the ball fields so that the leagues are not affected," said Rhodes. "That alone is keeping our hands full." Consequently, repair work at the parks suffers.

The two highest areas of vandalism, said Rhodes, are Commagere Park and LaRue Park on Dunbar Avenue.

At Commagere Park, the student workers will soon start repairing a six-to-eight foot hole in the right field fence. The fence, said Rhodes, appears to have been cut and one of the posts pulled out. As a result, the entire fence in right field has been weakened. LaRue Park and the pier at the end of Dunbar Avenue is another troublesome area, according to Rhodes. "No swimming" signs are stolen, defaced, or ignored.

Basketball nets disappear overnight, swing seats are sliced. Just recently the parks and playgrounds installed 75 feet railing along the Dunbar Avenue pier, and already several parts of that railing are missing.

"With the shortage of manpower," said Rhodes, "we're having enough trouble making the necessary repairs, and now it looks like someone is coming behind us and tearing it up all over again." With the lack of help and the increasing incidents of vandalism, Billy Rhodes would probably feel a certain empathy with Alice (of Wonderland fame) who told the queen, "It takes all the running in the world just to stay in the same place."

A gap in right

Bay St. Louis summer recreation director Billy Rhodes works on a ten foot gap in the right field fence of Commagere Park. The fence was cut and the post was pulled out, weakening the fence structure. City officials have estimated that acts of vandalism such as this cost the city $4,700 each year.

Careless beachcombers

Overturned benches and littered public beaches are causing a major problem this summer, say officials, because workers are taken from other maintenance jobs to correct these acts of vandalism and thoughtlessness.

Pass announces registration

Registration for Pass Christian tennis and volleyball teams for boys and girls age nine to 16 will be held from 9 a.m. to noon Monday at the tennis court and from 6 to 10 p.m. Thursday and Friday at the Little League ball park, announced the Pass Christian Parks and Playgrounds Commission.

Teams will begin play June 16. A fee of $2 is charged for the tennis team and registrants must have tennis racket and shoes.

Softball tourney set for weekend

Two local men's softball teams, Ladner's and Trapani's, will compete in a single elimination championship tournament beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Ann's Field on Dubuison Road in Kiln.

Proceeds from the championship sponsored by the Kiln Jaycees will go to the new crippled children's therapy center in Kiln. The Crippled Children's Foundation will also be the beneficiary of a softball game between disc jockeys from WQID and WYMI and volunteers from the foundation and the Kiln Jaycees at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 22 at Annunciation School in Kiln.

Two Rebels named to pre-season team

UNIVERSITY, Miss. — Ole Miss defensive tackle Ben Williams and flanker Rick Kimbrough have been voted best at their positions in the Southeastern Conference according to the recently released Birmingham News SEC Preview.

Williams and Kimbrough both drew first team pre-season All-SEC berths on the annual team, selected by league coaches.

The selection marks a repeat performance for both, the duo also earning first team pre-season ratings in 1974. Williams, a 6-3, 250 senior from Yazoo City, was chosen the SEC's best defensive lineman. A three-year letterman, he is bidding to become the Rebels' first All-America Tackle since 1963. He has been a first-team All-SEC pick by United Press International for two years and a second team Associated Press choice following his sophomore and junior campaigns.

A year ago, he led the Rebels in tackles charting 66 primary stops with 30 assists, recovering one fumble and leading the team in sacking quarterbacks with 10 dumpings for 48 deficit yards.

Williams was tabbed Southeastern Conference Lineman of the Week following the Missouri game last September and was chosen the best defensive player by ABC-TV in the televised encounter with Alabama.

Kimrough was picked by SEC coaches as the league's best receiver. He paced the Rebels in receiving last fall with 23 catches for 271 yards and two touchdowns.

A 5-10, 170-pound senior from Jackson, he also returned 15 kickoffs for an 18.0 average, with a long return of 56 yards.

His two-season receiving totals place him ninth in all-time Ole Miss receiving with 52 receptions for 730 yards and seven TD's. His 29 catches as a 1973 sophomore also ranks as the ninth best total for a single season.

Ladner completes speaking tour

Coach J. Larry Ladner of the University of Southern Mississippi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ladner of Bay St. Louis, has recently completed a speaking tour of local high schools stressing the role of the Christian athlete in sports.

Ladner attended sports banquets at junior and senior high schools throughout Mississippi this spring encouraging young athletes to develop their talents.

Before joining the staff at USM as assistant professor of athletic administration and coaching, Ladner was coach of the Eucalyne High School basketball team which posted a record of 250 wins and 85 losses.

Coast Elect

Coast Electric took over undisputed possession of first place with a 13-8 win over the fading Hancock Supply baseball team last Wednesday in Junior Babe Ruth League action. The Electricians also lead Rotary 18-14 in a suspended game that will be resumed Wednesday.

The Dixie Realtors dropped to second place in the standings by splitting two games. Its third game of the week was rained out with them leading Hancock Supply 10-5 in the third inning. The game will have to be replayed Wednesday.

The Rotary Club moved into third place with a tight 8-7 win over the Dixie Realtors, and American Legion stayed in contention with an even 1-1 record for the week. Hancock Supply, suffering from the absence of its southpaw pitcher Frank Henry, lost twice but remained in the race two games behind the league leaders.

Dixie Realty, 20-9
Ricky Manieri of Dixie Realty was staked to an 11-0 lead after two innings of play against American Legion, but in the third inning the Legionnaires connected for seven straight hits and cut the lead to three.

However, the Realtors were not to be denied as they scored in every inning to chalk up a 20-9 win. Bruce Morreale led the winners with three hits in four trips to the plate.

Manieri was credited with the win, and Kelly Geroux was charged with the loss.

At the wire

Hitting the finish line first in a five-horse race Sunday at Oak Downs is Miss Bay Star Bailey, two-year-old filly owned and trained by Donald Cuevas of Hancock County. Trailing the winner are Dial Donna (placed fourth for fouling), Prissy, Major's Deck Hand and Chick Everett.

Miss Bay Star Bailey - sired for greatness

(Special to The Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La. - Miss Bay Star Bailey may be following in her father's footsteps, or in this case hoofprints.
At least that's what Donald Cuevas of Hancock County is hoping.
The two-year-old filly, sired by the famous Bay Star Bailey was clearly the best of a five-horse field in a 300-yard race Sunday at Oak Downs.
Cuevas, who resides on Dummy Line Road in Hancock, feels Miss Bay Star Bailey will develop into a top-notch racehorse. Her early races seem to indicate that she will.
Bay Star Bailey, standing at stud on the Cuevas farm, was a top campaigner at area quarterhorse tracks, including Oak Downs. Cuevas said at least 15 of Bay Star Bailey's foals will soon be well into racing careers, and he expects Miss Bay Star Bailey to be among the best of them.
In other races won Sunday by Hancock horsemen, Delbert Cuevas' Johnny Bracero captured the 200-yard seventh with a clocking of 11.75 seconds over Alvin Addison's Spook (12.30), and Hayward Necaise's Secretariat Jr. ran three furlongs in 38.225 seconds to defeat Charles Cooper's Mr. Frank by a large margin.

In the top performance of the day, Merlin Marechal's Jonage Star, returning to action for the first time this year, recorded a Top A time of 18.645 seconds to win the 350-yard 11th race over Bam Bars (18.885).

The Hancock County Board of Education sent a suggestion for the $675,000 Government loan to the visitors Tuesday along with intent outlining its plan to repay the $180,000 allocated to the fund.

On the advice of attorney Joseph Gex the board submitted a suggested plan which would place the outside area for the school followed by a comb mill for up to 25 years repaid. The supervisors were unable to decide on the repayment of the loan was due in the office Budget and Accounting Geoghegan June 6.

Gex said he hoped the plan would solve the municipalities of Bay Waveland that they the $180,000 spent schools. Last Monday refused to return requested by the board.

"By separating the first six years up paid off, the cities of being taxed for the Gex said. "A two million assessment would pay off the $1 million while the two million assessment municipalities would interest. Then after the entire county could balance."

Gex said that Geo the next commission the GEC funds Friday copy of the school board for consideration.

"I think that if the visitors does not have there is a good chance will tell them what."

Whether or not it able to use the money purpose of building classrooms at Hancock and dressing rooms has still not been meeting between St. McCarty and Geoghegan director suggested board deal directly supervisors on the money.
